

BLACK NUNSENSE

by Martin Mahony

Black Nonsense is a comic novel by Martin Mahony, descendant of John Mahony of Dunloe Castle. The extraordinary becomes the everyday in this hilarious satirical comedy of coincidence and crippling irony. The most unlikely parties become inadvertently involved in the murky dispute between two tribes, whose peculiar rituals and tendencies towards the occult become helplessly intertwined with the practices of a convent of nuns, the military secrets of the British government, a sewer system infiltrated by deadly crocodiles, and a rescue home for alcoholic cats.

Mahony's riotous imagination and biting wit make every page a delight and renders his readers powerless to the intrigue of what could possibly happen next in this outrageous look at the importance of communication and the perilous nature of its success.

Obtainable from amazon.com and all good book stores and from the publishers, Pen Press. www.penpress.net